Assistant to the Director
STATINTL

FROM: [REDACTED] National Intelligence Officer for China

SUBJECT: Discussion on China with Newsweek Editors

1. On 21 April I received a telephone call from Maynard Parker, national editor of Newsweek, who is an old friend. Maynard had learned that I was speaking on China at the Council on Foreign Relations in New York on 12 May and asked me for lunch that same day at the Century Club in New York to discuss China with several senior editors of Newsweek. I accepted his invitation and will proceed to New York on the 12th for these two engagements unless informed otherwise.

2. I have previously reported the Council on Foreign Relations invitation and received approval to address them. In my talks with Newsweek I will be known as the National Intelligence Officer for China who is on Mr. Bush's staff. I do not intend to use classified information which can be identified as such.
